Workshop on Software Engineering in Telecommunications

October 09-12, 2001
Split, Dubrovnik (Croatia)
Ancona, Bari (Italy)

Call for Papers

Workshop on Software Engineering will be held aboard the luxury ship "Marko Polo" traveling on the route Split (Croatia) - Ancona (Italy) - Bari (Italy) - Dubrovnik (Croatia) in the frame of the 9th International Conference on Software, Telecommunications and Computer Networks - SoftCOM 2001.

Following the ongoing rapid advancements in the field of software engineering and telecommunications, we want to cover current research endeavors in this field, providing a venue for scholarly publication that explores issues relating to the combined effects of software engineering and telecommunications. It will be a forum for the Dissemination of new research in the field of software engineering applied to the area of telecommunications as well as Introduction of application-oriented researchers to leading edge new research.

We also encourage submissions from researchers in other areas of software engineering, computer science, systems engineering or other related areas of study whose work supports the focus of this conference.

Original, yet unpublished papers addressing the following topics (but are not limited to) are invited:

- * Software Development (e.g. Requirements, Design, Construction, Testing)
- * Software Maintenance
- * Software Configuration Management
- * Software Engineering Management (e.g. Process/Project Management, Risk Management, Organizational Management)
- * Software Engineering Process (e.g. Process Implementation and Change, Measurement)
- * Software Engineering Tools and Methods
- * Software Quality
- * Information Systems Security
- * Human Computer Interaction/Human Machine Interface
- * Information Management

Each day of the conference the ship will be anchored in one of the ports on the route, and overnight it will sail towards the next destination. This provides participants with the opportunity to share ideas in close contact with their colleagues and to enjoy the pleasant and inspiring ambience while visiting the ports along the beautiful Adriatic coast. During the conference the car deck will serve as an exhibition arena for exhibitors of software and telecommunication products.
